

The Lowland Brothers feat. Jaquee - Another Man's Life

The Lowland Brothers

TLB is the music-project of Berlin-based composer Matthias Krause, founded in 2018 with the aim to produce songs that can speak for themselves.

The Lowland Brothers dig deep in the memory of pop music and collaborate with artists that go beyond borders...

"When I asked Jaquee to contribute to the lyrics and vocal lines for Another Man's Life, I wanted to find a singer that would pick up the energy of the song. She did more than that - with her unique voice, her experience and self-confidence as an artist, she took the song to another level.

I don't want to live another man's life - what sounds trivial is indeed a profound message. It's a journey to realizing who we are. I believe that searching for our inner truth is what keeps us going, as musicians, artists and as humans. Our collaboration allows this journey, and I hope the music will resonate to the listeners."

JAQUEE

The 2 Time grammy nominated Jaquee has been spending the past years in motherhood and recharging. 2 decades of nonstop songwriting, touring, leading bands, performing live concerts took its toll, on mind, body and soul. So a break was well needed to rediscover the person and artist behind the music.

"This song came in a season in my life when I was working actively on my Shadow and Light, individuation. I wrote it a while ago but it's not until now that it needed to surface. "When the student is ready, the teacher appears".

Another Man's Life is a travel into the head & soul of Jaquee - the struggle to fully show up as myself, showing my vulnerability and my quest to stay true to myself. The Journey of healing, is the journey of individuation.

*The broken child

*The grown up still pained but surviving.

*The mask, and showing up in my truth.

My intention with the song is to speak my truth, and by doing so, inviting others to show up in theirs.
